WHO WE ARE

SLECoP
The STEM Learning Ecosystems Community of Practice, SLECoP for short, is an initiative of 111+ global communities working together to improve STEM across the world. The SLECoP has been a nationally recognized force for critical gains in STEM and STEM equity. With 111+ Ecosystems, serving an estimated 40 million students, the SLECoP brings together cross-sector partners from business and industry, K-12 and higher education, non-profits and after-school, government and philanthropy to work together to improve STEM opportunities, especially for underserved students and communities of color.

TIES
TIES is a bespoke strategy and education transformation firm helping clients design, deploy and sustain work that enriches the lives of individuals, communities and economies. TIES delivers results for corporations, governments, school districts and others.

Central to TIES’ work is its role as the co-designer/founder and operator of the global STEM Learning Ecosystems Community of Practice. Since 2015, the STEM Learning Ecosystems Initiative has cultivated and supported local, regional and state STEM Learning Ecosystems from across the globe. TIES supports the design and cultivation of the STEM Learning Ecosystems with peer mentoring plus access to tools, assessments and resources.

THE CHICAGO STEM PATHWAYS COOPERATIVE
The Chicago STEM Pathways Cooperative, founded and led by Project Exploration, convenes stakeholders in Chicago’s STEM ecosystem to address inequities in the STEM learning continuum by facilitating cross-sector knowledge building, collaboration, and collective action.

The Chicago STEM Pathways Cooperative is guided by the premise that access to a continuum of high-quality, in-home, in-school and out-of-school STEM experiences across all years of development can provide a strong foundation for success in adulthood and support civic, college, and work readiness. We understand that the STEM ecosystem reflects the combined digital, in-school, and out-of-school actions of all stakeholders who impact STEM learning opportunities for students and families, recognizing that STEM learning can happen any time, anywhere, at any pace.
WHERE WE’RE GOING

More than 700+ leaders, stakeholders and decision-makers from around the world who represent pre-K education; business and industry; postsecondary education institutions; non-profit and community based organizations; STEM-rich and cultural institutions (e.g. science centers, museums); and government will come together to learn and share best practices in equitable STEM Education to build a robust talent pipeline and empower the development of a diverse and inclusive workforce. Those who attend this convening represent 100+ communities which serve an estimated 40 million students.

The Global STEM Learning Ecosystems Community of Practice will be meeting in Chicago, IL October 29-31, 2024 in a convening hosted by Chicago STEM Pathways Cooperative, TIES and STEM Ecosystems.

“Envision Excellence in STEM Education, a 501-C3, serves as the fiscal agent for the STEM Learning Ecosystems Community of Practice”

“The 2023 SLECoP Convening was truly invigorating. Having worked so closely with the TIES team over the past several months, I knew I needed to be prepared to soak in everything that I could for the betterment of our wonderful state.”

- Rene McNeal, Alabama STEM Council
WHY SPONSOR
The gathering of the STEM Learning Ecosystems Community of Practice offers an unprecedented opportunity to join with STEM leaders from across the globe who are driving gains in STEM education for all. This convening, unlike other large education conferences, embeds sponsors into the Community of Practice, pairing them with Ecosystem leaders to support work that directly impacts students, school districts and entire communities.

This is a closed convening. Attendance is limited to Ecosystem leaders and those whose work aligns with the SLECoP. (No non-sponsoring companies or organizations with products or services to offer SLECoP members will be admitted into the convening.)

SPONSOR BENEFITS
All sponsors will receive significant benefits from aligning with the STEM Learning Ecosystems Community of Practice and supporting its annual convening in Chicago.
